DETAILED ACTION

1. Receipt is acknowledged of the "conditional" request for RCE application is acceptable and a RCE has been established. An action on the RCE follows.
2. The specification is objected to because of the following: it is not clear whether the "bridging elements" 14 is the same as the "spokes" as described in details in claims 34-38. Please clarify. Further, applicant is required to make sure that the claim languages is to be consistent with the language of specification. Correction is required.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

3. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

4. Claims 34, 37 and 38 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Lee (5,872,399)

Lee discloses a method of making a stencil or solder mask comprising: forming a plurality of segmental annular openings in a stencil plate 200 to define a central portion of the plate, a plurality of spokes 100, and a remainder of the stencil plate, said spokes 100 connecting the central portion to the remainder of the plate between adjacent segmental annular openings 160 (see Fig. 6A, and related embodiment of 4A, each shows spokes connectively attached to central portion and the remainder of the stencil

200. Further, it is noted that references 100's of Lee reference read on the broadly claimed "spokes" of the present application.

Limitations of claims 37-38 are also met by Lee (refer Fig. 6A).

5. Claims 34, 37 and 38 are also rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Natarajan et al (US 5,519,580)

Natarajan et al disclose a method of making a stencil or solder mask comprising: forming a plurality of segmental annular openings in a stencil plate to define a central portion of the plate, a plurality of spokes, and a remainder of the stencil plate, said spokes connecting the central portion to the remainder of the plate between adjacent segmental annular openings (see Fig. 4). It is noted that Fig. 4 of Natarajan et al depicts stencil or mask 32 having tabs or spokes 26 connectively attached to central 28 and the remainder of the stencil plate 32.

Limitations of claims 37-38 are also met by Natarajan et al (see Fig. 4).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

6. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

7. Claims 35 and 36 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Natarajan et al or Lee.

As applied to claims 35-36, regarding the size and thickness configuration requirements. It would have been an obvious matter of design choice to choose any desired size, shape and thickness configurations as described above, since applicant has not disclosed that the features are critical features, and patentably distinguishing features and it appears that the invention would perform equally well with the size, shape and thickness configurations as shown in the prior art reference (see Figs. 2-4 of Natarajan et al). Furthermore, it would have been an obvious matter of design choice to change in the size of a associated opening of a work piece, since such a modification would have involved a mere change in the size of a work piece. A change in size is generally recognized as being within the level of ordinary skill in the art. In re Rose, 105 USPQ 237 (CCPA 1955).

Limitation of claim 36 is also met as set forth above.

Prior Art References

8. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Prior art references are cited for their teaching of method of making a stencil or mask for solder paste.
